

From Editor's Desk

Dear Readers, Greetings!

I feel happy to share that lot more readers, viewed and down loaded our peer viewed journal in recen years. It signifies that the quality of the publications become more interesting and attracted more viewers. As we are in the competitive world, more publications will make you more fittest to face with eace. Learning the art of converting the rare cases into publications may be helpful for beginners and mostly done by from academic institutions. If your articles are getting published, your morale will change. I wholeheartedly congratulate all researchers and authors for being instrumental in bringing out innovative topics. Through your focus in dermatology, cosmetology, aesthetic surgery and innovative therapeutic approaches, you are helping us advance. Emerging fields like pediatric dermatology, geriatric dermatology, dermato-surgery and newer advances in the dermatology therapeutics need to be addressed. In IJCED you can publish under various categories: Personal views, review articles, original papers, professional papers, preliminary reports, and reviews of scientific meetings and book reviews.

All our reviewers, editorial team and publication section of the innovative team are the pillars of this successful peer reviewed journal. Only innovative journals in the field of dermatology is a boon and we shall try to maintain the standards marching toward greated hights will all your support.

Happy reading.
